O. D. K. Initiates Four Outstanding Activity Students

Bain, Castell, Kriemelmeyer, and Weitzel Inducted Into Honorary Fraternity

Four men, Wendell Bain, Richard Castell, Arthur Kriemelmeyer, and F. Winfield Weitzel, were initiated into Omicron Delta Kappa, national honorary activities fraternity, on Sunday afternoon, November 8, at the Phi Sigma Kappa house.

Bain was recognized for his performance on the business staff of the Cherry Tree, of which publication he is now business manager.

Castell has been active on the business staff of The University Hatcher, having recently served as business manager of that publication.

"Otis" Kriemelmeyer was chosen particularly for his prowess on the gridiron, where he is continuing to display those same qualities which won him this honor.

Winfield Weitzel has been active in publications, and was honored for his success on the editorial staff of the University Hatcher. He is at present editor-in-chief of The Hatcher. Phi Delta Epsilon, honorary journalistic fraternity, has elected Weitzel president for the coming year.

Have Many Other Activities

Other extra-curricular activities have claimed the attention of these men, but they have been recognized primarily for their outstanding performance in their chosen field. Omicron Delta Kappa fosters participation in activities, but in order to be recognized by the organization a student must be leader in some activity.

Alpha Epsilon Circle of O. D. K. was installed at George Washington University in June, 1930, with a charter membership of fifteen undergraduates and four faculty members. Membership is restricted to men students, who are recognized for outstanding work in scholarship, athletics, campus life, literary and foreign activities, and college publications.

Professor Elmer Louis Kayser, faculty member of O. D. K., was present

A Few Choice Moments in This Week-end's Lively Comedy

Gag Chittum Green Stevens Chittum Gay Greenberg Westbrook Chittum.

"The Queen's Husband" Holds Spotlight Friday, Saturday Evenings, 8:20 P. M. At Wardman Park

Unusual Interest Prompts Determination to Give Two Performances; Author Sherwood May Attend Performance; Stellar Production Expected; Gay Interviews Creator of Role

Unusual interest in "The Queen's Husband" which the Drama Club has been preparing for production this week was led to a determination by the club to present the play two nights instead of one. Friday and Saturday evenings, November 13 and 14, this interesting play will be given in Wardman Park Little Theatre at 8:20 p. m., and it is expected that a large University and local audience will attend.

Tickets for "The Queen's Husband" are $1 and 75 cents, and may be obtained at desks in Corcoran Hall and at the business manager, Leo David, and through members of the cast.

Performances at rehearsals may usually be taken as a reasonable criterion of what the finished production will reveal, and if this general theory may be believed those who see "The Queen's Husband" Friday or Saturday are due to be rewarded with a production worthy of professional players.

Frank Westbrook heads a stellar cast in a role which is abundant in scintillating, highly sophisticated humor. The featured players include Ada Green, star of past Troubadour shows, who offers a remarkably true caricature of the much publicized Queen Marie; Amanda Chittum and Karl Gay.

Robert Emmett Sherwood, author of "The Queen's Husband," will be in Washington this week for the premiere at the National Theatre of his newest effort, "Reunion in Vienna," and an invitation will be tendered him to attend one of the performances of the Drama Club play.

In an interview last week with Gaylah Laham, of the Stratford-upon-Avon Players, Karl Gay, juvenile lead in "The Queen's Husband," learned much about the original professional production of the play. Mr. Laham had the role of Granton, the king's secretary, in the New York presentation.

Friday night, Mr. Laham evidenced extreme interest in the Drama Club's endeavors and in the University and regretted exceedingly that he would not be in Washington this week for the performance of the play.

The supporting cast of "The Queen's Husband" is made up of students who have shown unusual ability in the dramatic field. General Northrup, prime minister to the king, will be interpreted by Michael H. Greenberg, who promises a high degree of intelligent interpretation in a difficult but engrossing role.

A robust provocative note will be furnished by Joseph Danzasky who supplies numerous side-splitting situations as butler to His Majesty. Sol Orleans contributes a sly and stimulating scene of serious drama.

Prince William of Greece, Edward Northrup, foreign minister to King Eric VIII, and Hartwell Parker, the revolutionary leader, Dr. Fellman, complete the list of featured supporters in the cast. Minor roles will be filled by Archie Oram, Steve Nymen, Arthur Stevingson, Adele Gussek, and Ida Anderson.

Construction Begun On Comedy Scenery

Dean Longfellow Directs Building of Five Sets for
"Happy Landings"

With "Happy Landings" four weeks away, construction has begun, under the direction of Dean Longfellow, on all of the scenery to be used in the show. There will be nine scenes, requiring five different sets. Due to the many changes of set, the staff had a serious problem to work out a rapid, efficient system of scene-shifting. The sets are built, painted, and will be shifted during the show by George Washington University students.

The setting for "Happy Landings" is a flying school in the South. There will be a campus set, an airplane hangar, and a professor's office. Longfellow refuses to divulge the nature of the other two sets in the show, except that they will be the "big scenes" of the production, and will be in the second act. Some of the scenes will be daylight, others will require special lighting effects, more ambitious than anything ever attempted in past Troubadour shows.

The final chorus line-up has been selected. The tall chorus is composed of Kathleen Watkins, Virginia Hawkins, Jane Menefee, Ruth McNary, Bernice Wall, Dorothy Wilson, Hilda James, Margaret Maxwell, Jane Hughes, Platonis Pappas, and Helen Sherrey; the middle chorus of Virginia Mahurin, Inez Ingham, Olivia Nixon, Dolly Tchiffely, Ruth LaFont, Edwina Seal, Anita Watson, Shirley Graff, Florence Jacobs, Peggy Evans, Betty Monroe, Louise Monroe, Marian Rittenour, Jane Caskey, Betty McGowan, Betty Reynolds, and Adele Meriam; the small chorus of Amanda Chittum, Betty Rose, Marcia Stauffer, Janey Allen, Billie Salomon, Harriet Doktor, Moe Leensitzer, Evelyn Sweitzer, Marguerite Thomas, and Betty Bacon.

Doyle Scheduled to Speak At Chapel Services Friday

Dean Doyle, of the Junior College, is to be the speaker at the chapel, Friday, November 13, in Corcoran 10 from 12:10 to 12:30. Attendance at these non-sectarian chapels, held every Friday, is voluntary, but the various religious organizations are encouraging all those who are interested to come.

Morgan Addresses Spanish Students

El Club Espanol Hears Commerce Head
on "The Land of Tomorrow"

Captain Sidney Morgan, secretary of the Tariff Commission, will speak on "The Land of Tomorrow Today," Thursday at 8 p. m. in Corcoran Hall 22 at the first meeting this year of El Club Espanol. Last year Captain Morgan spoke on the historical background of Spain and this lecture will be a review of the critical period in Spanish history preceding the 1931 revolution and a study of its development during and since that revolution.

All students registered in Spanish classes and any who are interested in Spain or Latin American countries are invited to the meetings of El Club Espanol and urged to become members of the organization. Although meetings have started late this year the officers of the club anticipate a season of meetings more interesting than those last year which will be hard to surpass.

Lectures and discussions are conducted in English because of the difficulty most students would experience in following Spanish conversation. Students who have advanced to the stage of Spanish speaking will be able to hold conversation with the speakers and other advanced students if they wish. The purpose of the club is to further interest and understanding of Spanish countries and people.

Prof. Vazquez Describes Post-Revolutionary Spain

Post-revolutionary Spain, as he found it on his return to his own country during the past summer, was vividly sketched by Professor Vazquez of Catholic University, before the Washington chapter of the Association of Professors of Spanish, at their meeting, with Dr. Rubio presiding.

Three Local Universities Will Play Champion Alabama Team In Charity Game On Dec. 12

Exhibition Brought About Only Through President
Marvin's Initiative; Colonials, Cardinals, and Hoyas Each to Play 20-Minute Period

Through the initiative of President Cloyd Heck Marvin of George Washington University the city of Washington will have a charity football game with the three local universities, George Washington, Georgetown, and Catholic University, each playing a 20-minute period against the famous Alabama University team of 1930. The contest is planned for Saturday afternoon, December 12, and will take place in Griffith Stadium.

After numerous disputes over the matter of conducting a charity football game in this city, everything was ironed out in a most efficient manner when President Marvin invited representatives from the two other local institutions to meet in his office with E. C. Graham, Chairman of the District Committee for Unemployment Relief. It seems that prior to the invitations extended by Dr. Marvin, he had made arrangements with Coach Frank Thomas and Henry Crisp, director of athletics, of Alabama, to bring the Rose Bowl champions to Washington for a charity game.

At the meeting held last Saturday Dr. Marvin informed those delegates present that Champ Pickens was instrumental in bringing the Southern team to the District for the contest. He also told them that Shirley Povich, sports editor of the Washington Post, first advanced the idea of inviting Catholic U. and Georgetown to participate in the fray by each playing a 20-minute session.

Colonials to Play First
George Washington University, as the host team, took the least preferred position, in the order of facing Alabama. The two other coaches, Arthur Bergmann of Catholic U. and Tommy Mills of Georgetown, tossed a coin for the second and third positions, resulting in Catholic U. engaging with the Alabamians second and the Hoyas playing the last 20 minutes. The coaches voted unanimously to allow the Crimson Tide to make substitutions at will and to disregard the rules concerning this item.

From reports made by Coach Frank Thomas of Alabama University, the members of the team that participated in the Tournament of Roses and finish of their gridiron careers with the Crimson Tide of Washington have all put themselves in prime condition by coaching and other various athletic pursuits. He also states that the players of the present Alabama team will have from Thanksgiving on to prepare for the contest.

Neophyte Council Selects Officers

Plans Underway for Pledge
Prom Which Is Tentative
For December 11

The Interfraternity Pledge Council held its first meeting and election of officers last Sunday at the Sigma Chi House. William Beulow, Sigma Alpha Epsilon delegate, was elected president; William Fitch, Theta Delta Chi, vice president; Frances Thuyey, Kappa Sigma, secretary; and Charles Yontz, Kappa Alpha, treasurer. Murray Watts, Delta Tau Delta, was appointed social chairman, while Charles Klineauf, Sigma Chi delegate, was appointed activities chairman. Activities chairman is a new office created this year to formulate cooperation between the pledges and the various activities at school.

Murray Watts has announced that the annual pledge prom, which is held every year, tentatively will be at the Mayflower. The date, which is also tentative, will be December 11. This is the social highlight of the "goats" season, and promises to be the best ever held.

The pledge council, which was instituted two years ago, is composed of one delegate from each social fraternity on the Interfraternity Council. It is modeled after the Interfraternity Council, and gives the pledges co-operation between the various fraternities, so they may be more fit to take on active responsibility after initiation.

Y. W. C. A. Conducts Drive For Membership Increase

Y. W. C. A., an organization open to all women of the University, is conducting a drive to increase its membership. Opportunities for social service work, regenerating old toys in the "Y" Toy Shop, sewing for the Florence Crittenton Home of the Children's Hospital, literary and social opportunities, discussing books, swimming and bowling are offered to every member on the campus.

The membership fee is $1. All university women are invited to join at the next meeting, Thursday noon, in Corcoran Hall 29, at which time a new president will be elected.

The "Y" was represented at the tri-state "Y" convention at Hood College last week by Jane Hill, acting president; Jessie Harden, and Ruth Schmidt.

See the Queen's Better Half Assert Himself

An opportunity seldom matched is available to students in the University this week end. The first large-scale student production of the year, the Drama Club's presentation of "The Queen's Husband," will be shown Friday and Saturday evenings in Wardman Park Theatre and at a nominal scale of prices. There will be few conflicts between "The Queen's Husband" and other University affairs. There is no football game this week and the fraternities have no events scheduled. For $1.50 or $2 you and your date may enjoy almost three hours of amusement that is most certainly not of the synthetic type but enlists the efforts of the most skilled actors in the student body. Your attendance should need no exhortation for your money's worth is assured. See the queen's better half assert himself!

Diplomacy and Charity

George Washington University, through President Marvin, has come forward with the final solution of the vexatious question of a charity football game for the benefit of the District's army of unemployed. Despite the announcement by George J. Adams, executive secretary of the Unemployment Commission, that plans for a charity game had been dropped because Maryland University refused to meet Georgetown, Dr. Marvin continued his efforts to arrange a special contest, the result being the scheduling of a most unusual exhibition. With the acceptance of his proposal to bring to Washington the famous Crimson Tide of the University of Alabama a novel, interesting and profitable entertainment is supplied for Washington's charity game, as a later proposal, that George Washington, Georgetown and Catholic University each engage in a 20-minute period of play against the Alabamians has been carried out.

George Washington may take pride in the manner in which the President has handled this problem of rendering assistance to the committee on unemployment relief. The services of the football team were tendered to the committee by President Marvin, but no action was taken. He offered to arrange a contest between the Colonials and an opponent he would select, but his offer was unaccepted. Instead the committee and the sports writers of the local papers attempted to promote another contest—with unfortunate results. As soon as the committee abandoned its proposal and released the Griffith Stadium, the University, through the President, resumed its efforts and quietly and efficiently produced a super-attraction.

There has been criticism from many students because of the effect this experiment may have upon the regularly scheduled game with Alabama next season, but every student must realize that this is our game. We are the hosts, and the responsibility rests upon each of us to back Jim Pixlee, who has been elected chairman of the committee in charge, in making a successful venture of it. When the Colonial varsity eleven takes the field for the first of the three twenty-minute periods every one of us should be in the stands. Our presence will be an inspiration to our team, of course, but more than this—it will be an inspiration to those who are already doing all in their power to make the coming winter as easy as possible for the thousands of unemployed workers and their families, who are looking for protection.

The Unemployment Committee and the city are indebted to President Marvin, and the University is proud of its part in the affair thus far. The student body must now step in and carry the project to the brilliant conclusion deserved by every undertaking of The George Washington University.

Teachers Hear Talk On Education Work

Miss Bess Goodykoontz Discusses Opportunities in Teaching

Miss Bess Goodykoontz told the women in the School of Education in her lecture last week that opportunities for women in education can be divided into two major divisions, "opportunities within the classroom or in some way directly associated with schools, and opportunities entirely separate from the schools in business or industry."

New opportunities are to be found in the cooperative group plan of teaching. There are certain schools in which the studies are grouped so that one helps another and about 20 or more types of studies are included in one group.

The second type of opportunity involves doing new things in the same field. These things come under the heads of improved libraries, social service work in the attendance department of schools, extra curriculum work, research work in child guidance bureau, adult education, pre-kindergarten schools, work with handicapped children, and museum work.

O. D. K. Initiates Four Outstanding Students

to assist in the initiation of the new members Sunday.

In keeping with its policy of striving to promote in an active manner the cooperation of all elements of the University with each other, and of the University as a whole in its contacts with the public, Omicron Delta Kappa will sponsor a tea dance to be given on Thanksgiving afternoon from 5 to 8 p. m. in C. H. 10, tickets to cost $1 each, single or couple. The proceeds of this dance will be donated to charity, as will the returns from the charity football game to be played on December 12.

Moratorium To Be Subject Of Debate By Commerce Frat

Taylor Announces Challenge to Delta Phi Epsilon, Urges Discussion of Today's Problems

A challenge for a debate on the proposed extension of the Hoover moratorium was issued last evening by the Commerce and Economics Fraternity to George Washington University's foreign service fraternity, Delta Phi Epsilon.

"We want to further the friendly relations between the two groups and to stimulate serious consideration of present-day economic problems," G. Douglas Taylor, president of the commerce fraternity, said in announcing the challenge.

The question proposed by Mr. Taylor is: "Resolved, that for the best economic interests of the United States, the Hoover moratorium should be extended five years." The date suggested for the verbal clash is November 23, when it is anticipated that a joint meeting of the fraternities will be held. Mr. Taylor stated that his fraternity expected to hold a tryout for membership on a two-man debate team within the next week.

Interfraternity debates among the various socials on the campus are not new to George Washington University, but this is the first time in recent years that one professional group has challenged another. Since the question is one of primary interest to both fraternities, the debate is expected to create considerable attention among economics students.

date, but has cancelled it in favor of Omicron Delta Kappa.

Following the initiation ceremony Sunday the following officers of O. D. K. were elected to take office immediately: William Thomson, president; Frank Weitzel, vice president; and Arthur Kriemelmeyer, secretary-treasurer.

The next meeting will be held Sunday, November 22, at 8 p. m. at the Acacia house. Every member must be present if possible.

Marvin Addresses Mothers Of Frosh

"Parents Need Find No Cause for Alarm," President Tells Visitors

In the propensity of the youth of today to examine social standards and to decide for themselves, parents need find no cause for alarm. Dr. Cloyd Heck Marvin thus assured mothers of freshman girls who visited the University Thursday with their daughters, on the occasion of Mothers' Day.

"In this modern age there is a freedom we sometimes call the 'new' freedom," Dr. Marvin said. "There is a liberty abroad and a questioning in matters of opinion that used to be considered authoritative. The youth of today want to differ; they want to think for themselves about statements not backed by actual fact. This should not concern us," the president declared.

Dr. Marvin told the mothers of the history and traditions of the University, and they also heard talks on various phases of college life by Provost William Allen Wilbur, Dean Henry Grattan Doyle, Mrs. Vinnie G. Barrows, and Dr. Katherine Chapman. The day was occupied with attendance upon regular classes and a tour of the University grounds.

Colonials Extend Intersectional Policy for 1932

Football Schedule Lists Teams From North, South, And West, In Addition To Eastern Squads

Fray with Alabama Is Feature of Season; Oklahoma, Iowa, William and Mary, and Boston University All Will Be Met in 1932

Students and supporters of the George Washington Colonials, and football fans of this section in general, may look forward with pleasurable anticipation to the 1932 season, following the announcement by the athletic department last week that Pixlee's charges will meet the noted Crimson Tide of Alabama here in the feature game of the bi-centennial year schedule.

And this classic merely serves to top off an already impressive schedule, which bids fair to surpass any ever attempted by a college team from the District. Oklahoma University will come here for a Thanksgiving Day game, and Iowa is slated to invade the capital in a return contest on October 29. William and Mary again appears on the schedule after an absence of two years, the game to be played here. Boston University will also come here in a return game.

The Buff and Blue is listed to play the renowned visitors from Alabama on October 8, the third game on the schedule. Alabama University has been outstanding in football for the past five years, having been a leading member of the Southern Conference, and Notre Dame's chief rival for national honors. Selected four times to represent the East in the Rose Bowl Tournament at Pasadena, the Crimson Tide has never been beaten in the New Year Day classic, though tied once. It was defeated for the first time in several years, early this season, by a powerful Tennessee eleven. Only last Saturday, however, it upset the hitherto unbeaten Kentucky eleven by a 9 to 7 count. The contract with the Alabama calls for but one game, but is in agreement with the intersectional policy which the Colonials will continue in the future.

Oklahoma is one of the leading members of the Big Six conference, which also includes Missouri, Kansas, Kansas State, Nebraska and Iowa State. The band will accompany the team to Washington to lend color to the Thanksgiving Day spectacle.

Iowa, which defeated the George Washington aggregation in a hard fought battle two weeks ago by a 7-0 score, will be the first big ten team to make its appearance in this city. The Hawkeyes will also bring with them their military band.

Boston University will face the Colonials for the second year in succession, in one of two contests before the Alabama battle, while the Indians of William and Mary College, who last met the Colonials at Williamsburg in 1928, will come here on a day yet to be set.

Dismissed from Staff
Because of his book, "Cane Juice," picturing student life at Louisiana State University, Dr. John Earle Uhler, associate professor, has been dismissed from the school.

Open Meet Heads Colonial Swimmers' Tentative Schedule

Freshman and Varsity Teams to Be Organized Before Prospective Meets in January

The swimming team is making progress under the direction of Coach Albert Lyman. A large number have reported and it is planned to have both freshman and varsity teams organized before the inter-collegiate competition starts in January.

Swimmers are now training every Monday and Wednesday nights between 7 and 8 p. m. at the Ambassador Hotel Pool, and the schedule will be extended to include Friday evenings as the date for entering competition nears. All members of the squad are privileged to swim any morning between 8 and 11, without charge, upon securing the proper credentials from Coach Lyman.

The first competition for aspirant swimmers will be in two open meets to be sponsored by the Ambassador Hotel, while the first meet will be held late this month and the second is scheduled for early December.

Veterans of last year's representative team who are back, include: crawl—Rote, Redmond, Burnside, Nimro; breast—Edmonston, Samuel; back—Creyke, Pagan.

Several good prospects are found among the following newcomers: crawl—Halverson, Lane, Gordon, Royce, McMillan, Levy, Coombs; breast—Everett, Trammell, Kingley; back—Litman; diving—Kyle, Love.

Tentative meets are being scheduled with Johns Hopkins, Duke, Navy, Virginia, William and Mary, and Washington and Lee. All of these colleges boast of good swimmers, while the men of Navy and Washington and Lee are especially good.

St. John's Frosh Lose To Yearlings

Vanderburg Stars as Freshmen Easily Score on Annapolis Outfit

The George Washington freshman team easily won from the St. John's frosh by a score of 33 to 0 Saturday afternoon in the Eastern High School stadium.

Superiority of the Colonial yearlings was evident from the beginning of the fray. A touchdown was made in each of the first three quarters and two in the last.

Led by a versatile fullback, Vanderburg, the freshmen swamped the Annapolis boys both defensively and offensively. Vanderburg was the star of the fray, at one time making a 40-yard run for a touchdown, and later intercepting one of the St. John's passes and romping over the goal line.

Two other Colonials, Strayer and Nelson, both found openings and plunged through the Johnnies for touchdowns. One point was made after a score by Vanderburg with a line plunge and the two others by Trilling with drop kicks.

Knott, former Devitt man, and Trilling played excellent games, providing most of the blocking for their mates.

Ed De Lisio and Winton, both Washington boys, were the shining lights of the rather mediocre outfit from St. John's.

Hockey Team Plays In Annual Tourney

Sixteen Women Take Part in Play Day at Harrisonburg College

George Washington University was well represented at the meeting of the Virginia and North Carolina Field Hockey Association when it held its annual tournament at Harrisonburg, Va., on October 30 and 31. A group of hockey enthusiasts, including 16 University women, and Professor Atwell, Miss Lawrence and Miss Rodgers of the Physical Education Department, went to Harrisonburg to participate in the various events of the tournament.

The mountains of Harrisonburg furnished a beautiful setting for the two hockey fields on which excellent mixed teams taking part in the tournament. Among the most interesting games played were those of the Coaches vs. mixed teams and the Washington Hockey Club vs. a picked team. The George Washington players were well represented on the Washington Hockey Club team as well as on the mixed teams.

Alpha Delta Pi Is Winner In Miniature Golf Tourney

By virtue of having the lowest aggregate score of 221 strokes, Alpha Delta Pi annexed the intramural miniature golf championship.

Colonials Swamp Salem Tigers In Slow, Easy Game

Carlin and Parrish Star in One-sided Contest; Tiberi Is Tiger Star

The Colonials, taking all before them, ran up a 45 to 0 score over the Salem Tigers in a one-sided contest staged at Griffith Stadium Saturday night before a crowd of 4,000. The Salem eleven put all it had in the fight, but was completely outclassed in every phase of the game. Carlin and Parrish were the principal thorns in the sides of the plucky West Virginians, the former consistently going through the line for substantial gains and Parrish being the nemesis of all Salem passes. The passing combination of Tiberi to Bowen was the one Tiger threat of the game. Tiberi not only threw passes averaging over thirty yards, but was the one consistent ground gainer for the Salem team.

G. W. received the kick-off to start the game, Fenlon, at left half, receiving. The ball was not advanced during the Colonials' first tries and was kicked to Salem. The Tigers made no headway and got off a quick kick to G. W. Fenlon took the ball on his own 25-yard stripe, advancing it to the Salem 48-yard line before being downed. Shortly thereafter a pass from Carlin to Fenlon put the ball on the Salem 20-yard marker. Carlin in the next few plays put the ball over for a touchdown. Chambers added the extra point to make the score 7-0 in the first few minutes of play.

Carlin added a thrill to the last quarter by stepping off a 72-yard run for a touchdown and adding the extra point. After several Tiger passes taking them a third of the way up the field Parrish intercepted a pass on the 50-yard line. Coogler, coming into the game, carried the ball around end and through the line and finally over the line for the last goal of the game. The kick for the extra point was blocked. Salem received and carried the ball to the 35-yard line when the game ended. The final score was 45-0.

Sigma Chi Golfers Trim Theta Delts

Sigma Chi-Sigma Nu Finals Match Expected to Be Best of Tourney

Sigma Chi's golf team handily defeated the Theta Delta Chi golfers in the only scheduled semi-final match last Sunday by displaying some of the best golf yet seen in interfraternity competition.

Dolph Atherton and Gordon Brown, Sigma Chi's first foursome, scored a win over Henderson and Parker, 2 and 1, in a fairly close match. The best golf was played in the second foursome by Jerry Klutz and Bob Orison, Sigma Chi swingers, who had little trouble in drubbing Cummerford and Swingle of the Theta Delta. The Theta Delts were never in the running in this match and lost 9 and 7. Sigma Chi also garnered a point for low medal score to give them a clean sweep of the possible three points.

Sigma Nu, which received a bye in the semi-finals, will face Sigma Chi in the final round to decide which team will wear the interfraternity golf championship crown for another year. A lively battle is expected between these two teams as Sigma Nu is anxious to continue their championship march which they started by winning the tennis championship, and Sigma Chi is just as eager to stop them from doing so.

Frosh Gridmen Will Meet Emerson Prep at Eastern High Tomorrow Afternoon

Buff and Blue football fans will be treated to a mid-week battle tomorrow afternoon when the freshmen kick off to Emerson Prep in Eastern Stadium at the convenient hour of 2:30.

With Coach Sexton's squad in first class shape after Saturday's rout of St. John's and with Emerson presenting one of its weakest teams in recent years, the Colonial backs are expected to be the main figures in a one-sided track meet.

Sport Axe

By GORDON V. POTTER

Not only the followers of the destiny of the Colonial gridmen, but adherents of the Georgetown and Catholic University football outfits are waiting for that charity affair with the Alabama team which won the Rose Bowl contest with Washington State last year in California. In addition to those members that played against Washington State and who have since graduated, eight members of this year's Alabama team will engage in the fray.

We students and football adherents of Washington in general have our own President Cloyd Heck Marvin and Jim Pixlee to thank for the conception of and planning for this singularly novel football game.

As far as I know this contest is the first of its kind to be staged and from all reports the show will approach gladiatorial heights in color, versatility, and brilliance. It might be likened to an old Roman production, substituting Griffith Stadium for the Coliseum.

Salem College obtained a rather drastic drubbing at the hands of the Colonials last Saturday evening. Although they might place the guilt on the whole George Washington team, so thorough was the said drubbing, it would be more accurate to place it on Lee Carlin and Parrish, Buff and Blue backfield men. Carlin was by far the flashiest player on the field. Through his dashing plunges off tackle and sweeping gallops around the West Virginians' ends, he accounted for four touchdowns. Parrish, on the other hand, was master of the Salem arials. He intercepted during the game passes to the amazing total of six, which naturally disheartened the Tigers.

More plans for the encouragement of our gridmen for their engagement with North Dakota University. A big rehearsal is to be held Wednesday evening in Corcoran Hall 10 for the fraternity pledges at which Joseph Howard of Kappa Alpha, and the three cheer leaders, Jerry Slicker, Archie Burgess, and Paul George will preside. Yells, songs, and new cheers will be practiced all in preparation for the Thanksgiving day game. Pledges—All of you turn out for at least a half or three-quarters of an hour!

Attention has been made to group the Glee Club men at the charity games. Two other local universities will be represented with good Leon Fouts, third-string varsity fullback, was automatically dropped from the varsity squad when he played semi-professional football Sunday with the Mohawks. Fouts, it was found, had withdrawn from school before playing Sunday, in order that he might return to his home in Omaha, Neb. His playing of semi-professional football renders him ineligible for further amateur playing at any time.

More than 100 couples gathered to dance to the strains of Goldman's music in Corcoran Hall Friday as the Interfraternity Council football mixer was pronounced a success, despite the fact that it was held the evening before the game. This was due to a University rule which forbids school dances to last longer than 12 o'clock on Saturday nights. Chaperones for the dance were Professor and Mrs. Bement and Professor and Mrs. Willard. The Council announced its next dance for Friday, November 20, following the Butler game.

Due to an error in the typing of the pledge list the name of Edwina Seal was accidentally omitted from the group of Chi Omega pledges.

WHO'S WHO

With the premiere of the Drama Club's play, "The Queen's Husband," so near at hand, Leo David, upon whose shoulders rests the financial success of the production, comes to the attention of the student body.

Leo has concentrated on quality rather than quantity in extra-curricular activities. He has devoted his time and energy to The Hatchet, the Drama Club, and the Columbia Debating Society, and at the same time has been an honor roll student.

Starting as a reporter on The Hatchet in 1929 his excellent work soon gained him recognition in this field and he became an assistant editor and now is an associate editor of the paper.

His first position in the Drama Club was that of assistant publicity director and his efforts in this line led to his appointment as business manager and publicity director of its forthcoming production.

Another of the really important things Leo has accomplished since he came to the University is the organizing of a local fraternity which petitioned the national organization, Phi Epsilon Pi. This group obtained its charter from the national June 4, 1930, and Leo became the first president of his chapter.

pare for the charity tussle, and all will welcome another opportunity to fight for the glory of ol' Alabama.

This Alabama team that defeated Washington State last year in the Tournament of the Roses by a score of 24 to 0 was just about the greatest gridiron aggregation ever possessed by the university, and the team that plays in Washington on December 12 will be composed about evenly of the players who have graduated and those who make up the 1931 eleven.

Troubadour Show Recalls Interesting And Colorful History Of Past Plays

First Production, "Just a Kiss," Was Given in H Street Gymnasium Under the Supervision of Larry Parker, Sterry Waterman, and Jack Hutchins

"Back in 1926 and '27 when the first original production of Troubadours was given people sat on the rafters in the gym to see the show. Our scenery was little more than a table, some chairs, and curtains. But what we lacked in equipment we made up for in enthusiasm. Ruth Peter, Sterry Waterman, and myself had great ambitions for the Troubadours," declared Larry Parker, one of the original members of the Troubadours and a member of the alumni advisory committee, in a recent interview.

The present organization, devoted to original productions, dates back to the fall of 1925, though the present producing club was not officially formed until October, 1929.

From December, 1924, through the spring of 1925 there was in the University a dramatic group known as the Troubadours which gave productions composed by students. In May, 1925, this organization disbanded, and a few months later a small group of students headed by Sterry Waterman, Ruth Peters, and Larry Parker adopted the abandoned name, Troubadours, and established the present organization.

All Were Experienced
Ruth Peters had for several years been generally identified with dramatics in the University, and she served as president of the first informal organization. Sterry Waterman, now a practicing attorney in Vermont, had enjoyed wide dramatic experience at Dartmouth. Larry Parker had served as stage manager of the Triangle Club at Princeton for four years.

Troubadours' first original production was presented May 6 and 7, 1926 in the University gymnasium; its title was "Just a Kiss." The book was by Waterman and Parker, the score was composed by Jack Hutchins, and the lyrics were written by Parker. This production won the cup offered by Phi Delta Gamma in the second annual dramatic festival given in the University.

"We've come a long way from those days," declared Parker. "Each year the shows have been more elaborate and finished. This year's certainly promises to carry on the tradition."

While the organization does not officially represent George Washington University it is composed entirely of students of the University and is under the advisory direction of the University committee on dramatics, composed of Prof. Robert Whitney Bolwell and Larry Parker.

Mortar and Pestle Club Plays Host to Students And Alumni at Smoker

The newly organized Mortar and Pestle Society of the School of Pharmacy held a smoker Friday night, October 30, in the Pharmacy Building. All students of the School of Pharmacy and alumni were invited. The event was well attended by students and faculty. The program included speeches by Dean Briggs, E. Witt, instructor in pharmacy; and the officers of the society. After the program a general "Bull Session" was held in the gray fog of smoke.

The Mortar and Pestle Society met for the first time October 15th by a group of upper classmen of the School of Pharmacy for the purpose of promoting unity and cooperation among the students of the School of Pharmacy. A constitution was drawn up at the next meeting and officers for the coming year were elected. Those elected were Herbert S. Hoks, president; Edward Smyser, vice president; Milton Butler, secretary; Gabriel Sousa, treasurer; Chester Chamberlain, social secretary.

International Hockey Game Will Be Played on Nov. 13

An international hockey game will be played in Baltimore Friday, November 13, at 3:30 p. m. The participants will be the All-Scotch team and the All-Baltimore team. All those interested in going are requested to make their reservations at Building R before Thursday night.

This game is of especial interest to George Washington students because Miss Agnes Rodgers of the Physical Education Department for Women will play on the All-Baltimore team. Miss Rodgers was also a member of the All-American Hockey team in 1928 and 1929.

Donaldson, Ragatz Chosen Officers for Year 1931-32

The George Washington Chapter, which includes practically all members of the faculty, is one of the largest in the United States.

Old Gold Offers New Handy Pack Of 'Tailor Mades'

The problem of how to carry a package of "tailor-made" cigarettes in a tailor-made suit of clothes, without bulging the pockets of the latter, has been solved!

A new and handy "twelve-pack" has been produced by Old Golds, which will repose in the side pocket without betraying its presence or destroying that "form-fitting" pocket.

Men who are not silhouette conscious, will also appreciate the new and smaller package, because it can be crowded into an already bulging pocket without threatening the seams.

Smokers of Old Golds will, of course, be interested to know that the twelve-pack, like the standard twenty-pack, is wrapped in moisture-proof cellophane.

Law School Mixer Preparations Made

Rinehart, Feinstein, Dudley, Davison
Named on Committee

Announcement has recently been made of the appointment of the chairman of the various committees responsible for the success of the annual Law School Mixer. They are: Theodore Rinehart, publicity; Louise Feinstein, decoration; Donald Dudley, music; and Professor J. Forrester Davison, floor committee.

This party, a traditional event of the George Washington University Law School, will be held in Stockton Hall, November 13, from 9 to 12 o'clock. It provides an opportunity for the legal neophytes to become better acquainted with the members of the advanced classes. Preparations are being made for a record attendance this year, and Sydney's music promises entertainment for all.

Many faculty members have already signified their intention of being present and few Law School students are expected to miss this gala occasion.

Music Appreciation Group Is Organized

Miss Dickerman urges men and women interested in the concert this Sunday, November 15, to leave their names and the money for tickets with her as early as possible this week. The price of the season ticket is $2, but students may pay half of this sum at the beginning and the remainder at a later date.

CAMELS are never parched or toasted!

FRESHNESS and flavor in a cigarette trace right back to natural moisture.

If you overheat or process tobacco so harshly as to dry out all natural moisture you drive out freshness and flavor too.

Camel never parches or toasts the fine Turkish and mild Domestic tobaccos it uses—they are naturally smooth, cool, mellow, with natural moisture retained.

That's why the Camel Humidor Pack proves such a blessing to Camel smokers—it brings them a fine cigarette fresh to start with, and fresh to smoke.

If you don't realize what natural moisture means in genuine freshness and flavor, switch to Camels and see.

"I liked Chesterfield right from the start"

"No, I don't know a blessed thing about how cigarettes are made. But, of course, I would want the tobacco to be PURE. And then I've heard that the blending is very important. I'd want that to be done just right."

"Then the paper. I don't like paper that you can taste—or smell when it's burning. I'd want that pure too."

"Another thing. I want to smoke whenever I feel like it—without worrying about smoking too many. So I want my cigarettes MILD."

"But the main thing, of course, is TASTE. I don't care for over-sweetened cigarettes. I much prefer those that are just sweet enough."

"Chesterfield seems to satisfy in every one of these ways. That is why I'd rather have a Chesterfield."

SMOKERS tire of too much sweetness in a cigarette, and they don't like rawness. For a steady diet, they want a cigarette like CHESTERFIELD—a mild and mellow smoke, free from any over-sweetness or any harshness or bitterness. That's why more and more smokers every day are changing to CHESTERFIELD.

Good... they've got to be good.
